QUIET ELECTION

ALABAMA.

MONTGONERY, ALA., Nov. 7.—The election wa quiet throughout the State as far as heard Hayer' majority in this city will be 1,66). The few boxes heard from indicate a large Democratic majority in the State. It is safe to say seven majority in the State. It is safe to say seven Democratic Congressmen are elected.

Monitz, Nov. 7.—The indications are that Bromberg, Democrat, has carried this county by 4.5% majority. Tilden and Hendricks' majority will equal, if it does not exceed, Bromberg's. Everything is quiet.

Montgoment, Nov. 7.—The returns show Democratic insperies from all directions, indicating at least 25,0.0 majority in the State. Seven Democratic Congressmen are certainly elected. In the Fourth district Haraison, the present colored member, is opnosed by Ratier, ex-colored cored member, is opnosed by Ratier, ex-colored. ored member, is opposed by hispier, excelored member, who is supported by Senator Sponce member, who is supported by Senator Sponce and the Federal office-holders. CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1 .- The election in this elly and State was very quiet. A heavy vote was cast. Forty-two thousand ballots were polled in this city. The result here cannot be known be erning. Both parties claim the city, but feat of Piper, Dem., for Congress in this district is conceded. Partial returns from the interior show Republican gains almost everywhere. There is no question that Page, Rep., will be elected in the Second districts. The Third and Fourth districts are more doubtful, and the result cannot safely be predicted. From present advices at the Republican State Central Committee room the feeling is strong that they have carried the State by a fair majority, and the press dispatches seem to indicate that fact.

The returns from the large towns are coming in Early slowly. There is nothing from Oregon or Nevada, except Democratic gains reported in Firginia City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 .- The Gold and Stock bul-1872. The last returns received from Connecticut show large Republican galus, and indicate the probability that the Republicans will carry the State.

HARTFORD, Nov. 7.—Thirty-eight towns give Hayes 8,267. Tilden 7,605. Robinson, Rep., 7,375; Hubbard, Dem., 6,895. Last spring these gave Robinson, Rep., 6,132; Ingervolt, Dem., 6,514. The Republican majority is 105 against a Demo, cratic majority last year of 402. Republican gain of 607. This includes no city whatever.

HARTFORD, Nov. 7.—Hartford gives Tilden a plurality of 689. Democratic majority for Governor last spring was 676; Bemocratic gain in the city 313. Meriden gives Hayes 21 majority, Democratic loss of 216.

General Hawley is defeated for Congress in the First district by about 150.

Hantroom, Conn. Nov. 7.—One hundred and twenty-five towns, which do not include New London or New Haven, give Hayes 4:,42; Tidon, 43,43; Robinson, 45,59; Habbard, 43,28; These are against last spring: Robinson, 57,611; Ingeredl, 57,42. Democratic majority, 919, against 6,522 this spring. The State, no doubt, gives Tidon a clean majority. The Legislature, in all probability, is Republican. Walt, Rep., in the Third district, is elected to Congress; Phelps, Dem., in the Second, and Warner, Boun, in the Fourth, are elected. The State representation in Congress is unchanged politically.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7, 12 midnight,—The tewn of New Haven gives the Bomocratic electoral ticket 1,874 majority. Phelps, Dem., candidate for Congress in this district, is re-elected over Kellogg by a majority somewhat less than that of two years ago. The State will be close, but will undoubledly give a small majority for Tilden.

CUBA'S HURRICANE.

The Bevastating Flood That Followed. HAVANA, Nov. 7.—The accounts which have been received from the interior show that the main source of the recent floods was the Laguna Del Tesore, which is situated on the north side of Zapata swamp. The floods ran in a straight line north through the centre of Colon county, seeking to unite with the swamps of Bibana, on the north millas, San Anton, Guayabo and others, ran through the following counties: Roque, Saba-nilla, Recero, San Anton, Carnilla, Guanajaybo mills, Recero, San Anton, Carnilla, Guanajaybo and Palmillas. At a pisntation called Fermina, where the main trunk of the railroad has a tunnel, eight feet of water remained on the ground five days after the hurricane. The low-lying lands were overrun to the height of the house-tops, and on the plantations only the chimneys were to be seen above the water.

The inundation covers an area of about forty miles. The following plantations suffered the most severely: Fermina, Feroer, Armonia, Carambola, Dounas, and Rita. From fitteen to twenty others were totally rained. Over fitty smaller farms were also destroyed. The exact cause of the flood is unknown, but it is supposed to have been occasioned by the heavy rains. Some people believe that springs came out of the earth. In some sections the damage done by the flood was much heavier than that done by the harricane. Exact estimates cannot yet be made but it is supposed the sugar crop has suffered by both calamities. From fitteen to twenty per cont. of the crop will nevertheless be about as large as isst year's, because it promised to be exceptionally large. The tobacco crop will be retarded, because the seedlings were destroyed, but they can be replaced in most cases.

SAVANNAB, Nov. 7 .- Total interments six; English Demand for American Wheat. There are many indications in England of the robability of a large demand there this winter or American wheat. A writer in the London Times says that last year the British wheat crop Times says that last year the British wheat crop was 22 per cent, below an average, while this year it is 11 per cent, below. The amount his year available for consumption, after deducting the wheat necessary to be retained for seed, is stated at about, 72,000,000 bushels, the average yield per sere being 25 bushels this year. The requirements of the population for the year are estimated at 184,000,000 bushels. Therefore 112,000,000 bushels must be imported, an amount about equal to the imports of foreign wheat into England during the past year.

In the wheat trade the fact is demonstrated in England that wheatcan be imported cheaper than

In the wheat 'trade the fact is demonstrated in England that wheat can be imported cheaper than it can be grown. Each year there is a diminution in the acreage sown. Thus the increased yield per acre this year compared with last year is entirely offset by the reduced surface planted in wheat, which is but 3,114,5% acres. England now looks to the United States as her chief source of supply for foreign wheat, of which San Francisco sends her probably the greatest amount of any single port. sends her probably the greatest amount of any single port.

If we are able to grow breadstaffs and provi-sions for England, and supply her more cheapity than she can do it at home, it gives us a vantage ground held by no other nation. What we do for her we are doing for France, Germany and other European countries, and so long as we can keep out of foreign quarrels, and also keep the peace at home, this trade is sure to greatly bene-tit us.

Soon after noon yesterday a stranger entered a Woodward avenue hardware store and asked if they kept shingle nails there. Being informed that they had a dozen kegs on hand, he further inquired, "Are they genuine shingle-nails or only imitations?" "They are shingle-nails, of course," "Let me see them." A handful was placed on the counter before him, and he took several nails to the door, where he could get a stronger light. After scanning them thoroughly he tested two or three between his teeth, tried to band them be-tween his fingers, and said: "Well, they seem to be all right, and I'll take five pounds. I don't want to appear captious, but I bought some shingle nails along here somewhere about a ment), are carried them home and what do you shingle-nails along here somewhere about a month ago, carried them home, and what do you suppose they turned out to be?" "Six-pennys?" answered the cleek. "No, sir; they were shoepegs, sir." "That was strange," mused the clerk. "And another time when I ordered ahingle-nails," continued the stranger, "the clerk put up four store handles, three nutmen graters and a coffee-mills. Can I shingle a barn with store-handles? Can I clap-board a smoke-house with nutmer-graters?" "Curious mistake, that," said the clerk." "And another time when I saked for shingle-nails they put me up four corn-poppers and a match-safe. These things have sunk deep into my soul, and you mustant blame me for seeming particular. Now, these are nails, are they?" "Just write it on this card and give me your name, the name of the firm, the number of this store and the date of the month. I don't want to make trouble, but if I find when I get home that you have put me up bath-brick and harnessenaps in the place of shingle-nails. I liboome back here and make it warm for you."—Detroit Free Press.

A Suggestive Scene.

Here is a scene for a painter. When the Demoeratic procession was marching up Broadway, last Thursday night, past Madison square, where Governor Tilden was reviewing the parade, John

What a speciacle was that: A candidate for the Presidency, a man who aspires to the chair of Washington, and Jefferson, and Abraham Lincoln, dandled before a howling mobin the arms of a prize-fighter, a gambler, who lives in daily defined of law! What a scene for this Contennial rear! What a comment on the party whose candidate he is, the professed party of "reform!" Tilden, Morrissey, "Reform!" Does not the soul of every decent citizen revolt against such dogredation of American politics?—Cleveland L. ader.

In a city in the south of France was once building an important atructure, under the direction of a State engineer. The building finished, there only remained to be built the inclosing walls, which, to be of a considerable height, were strengthened by chainer of stone, which, were to be carrefully bonded. The engineer, making his daily tour of inspection, always saw a throughstone just being set in place, and thought all was as it should be. No sooner was his back turned than this was repiaced by a stone four inches thick, backed up with the runble-stone, while the through-stone was laid aside for use the next day. Thus the same stone did service throughout the entire wall, and was busily carried back in triumph to the stone yard of the enterprising contractor.

A few months ago he gave a certain man, who had a pretty little blonds wife, $130,000 for a league or two of swamp lands, valuable only for the bouniful supply of bullfrogs, raised for the Franch restaurants. Wise land-sharks said noth ing, while several ladies who knew a thing or two, said a great deal. The gallant speculator would frequently go out to his tule to hunt snipe and quait and things, and this "changeable blopde" would accompany him—as far as his summer cettage by the beautiful bay. Shortly after the suspension of the Bank of California one of its directors died, leaving an inconsolable widow, fair and nearly forty, but not fat. All the world had lost its charms for her, except the family coachman, a burly-built fellow, with the head of a prise-fighter and the feet of a St. Louis directory man. Her drives were frequent and long, and the route selected was generally in the beautiful suburban groves, where Byron says love rules as well as in the court or camp. Soon coming events cast their shadows before, and she asked John to marry her. And he did. She made a full confession to her sisters and family relatives. They all gave her the "cut direct." Her brother-in-law was also formerly a director of the Bank of California, and is worth three or four million dellars. Her two sisters have elevated their noses to an acute angle and gone off in COACHING A WIDOW.

To the thoughtful, the moral consequences of tension and hurry are very saddening, to the physician their results are a matter of profound concern, their grave evils come under his daily observation. No evolution of force can take place with under rapidity without damage to the ma-chine in which the transformation is effected. law is universal that intensity and duration of ac-tion are inversely proportioned. It is therefore no matter of surprise to find that the human nervous system is no exception to the rule. The higher salubrity of rural over urban life is not entirely a matter of fresh air and evercise. Rural life involves leisure and pause in work, which are very essential to the maintenance of the nervous system in a state of due nutrition. Unremitting system in a state of due nutrition. Unremitting spasm soon ceases altogether. The tension of life produces weakness at the very place where strength is most needed. The damage done to the health of the most valuable part of the oommunity, the best trained thinkers, most useful workers, is incalculable. Work and worry, though not preportional, are closely connected, and an excess of the former soon estable an increase in the latter beyond the limits which the nervous system can bear with impunity, espécially under the conditions under which work has to be done. The machinery and organizing the work of a consmunity had to be rigid and infinishe, and in the strain involved in bringing a changing organizem futo harmony with a machine, the former must inevitably suder.—London Lancet.

The Proposed Conversion of the Sahara Desert Into a Sea.

The proposed pieroing of the Isthmus of Suez and the scheme of reconverting the Sahara into a sea has induced Dr. Reclam, the well-known ad vocate of cremation, to write a warning article in his periodical, called Gerundheit, ("Health.") He points to a remarkable change in the climate He points to a remarkable change in the climate of the Torres Straits, between Australia and New Guinea, which in 1805 were only beset by twenty-six cor al islands, new augmented to one hundred and sixty. The gridual deviation of a warm current of see water, owing to this successive stopping up of the Torres passaxe, has already wrought a great alteration of the climate in these quarters.

Dr. Reelam apprehends a similar danger for the European, and specially the German, climate from the deviation of the Guil Stream after the piercing of the Isthmus of Sucr. He says Europe owssits moderate climate partly to the warm water heating by the Guil Stream partly to the hot air heating by the Guil Stream partly to the hot air heating by the Wind from the Affician desert. The hot wind, known in Switzerland as the Fohn, is a snow-devourer and glacier-destroyer. Without it, the sun and the summer would not suffice to stop the progress of glacter formation.

Between 17,000 and 20,000 alligator skins are tanned yearly, which are consumed by boot and shoe manufacturers in every portion of the United States, as well as exported to London and Hamburg. The alligators formerly came almost entirely from Louisiana, and New Orleans was the great centre of business. The Florida swamps and morasses are now the harvest fleids, and Jacksonville in that State the great denot. The and morasses are now the harvest fleids, and Jacksonville, in that State, the great depot. The alligators often attain a length of eighteen to twenty feet, and frequently live to a very old age. The hides are stripped off, and the belly-and sides, the only partions fit for use, are packed in barrels, in strong brice, and shipped to the Northern tanner, who keeps them under treatment for from six or eight months, when they are ready to be cut up. NORRIS-LEWIS.

SECOND DAY OF THE TRIAL

FOR THE DEFENSE

THE JURY ALLOWED TO READ ELECTION NEWS

The trial of Nimrod Norris, Frederick Harris and Mary Ward, charged with the murder of Richard Lewis on the 5th of July last, was resumed in the Oriminal Court yesterday morning, Judge MacArthur presiding. In addition to the counsel engaged in the case on the first day Mr. Newman appeared for Frederick Harris. Nine urors were selected Monday, and the list was completed yesterday by the selection from the talesmen of Timothy W. Murphy, George D. Johnson and Wm. Bryan,

The case was opened to the jury by Mr. M. H. Wells, jr. THE TESTINGEY. Mr. J. F. Hartigan was first called, and testified that the wound on the body of Lewis, which was made from above and necessarily fatal, was inflicted with a two-edged helfe.

George Roane, the next witness, testified that on the morning of July 4 he saw Norris and others passing down Thirteen and a half street, when Harris was struck (as he thought) necidentally by one of the party with a piece of broomstick, and his nose bled. Harris and his friend went to a pump: while at the pump Norris came ally by one of the party with a piece of broomstick, and his note bled. Harris and his friend went to a pump; while at the pump Norris came up and made some remark about the striking, and Lewis told him that it was none of his business;
Norris called Lewis a — of a —, and the woman Ward went in her house and brought out a dirk, which she gave to Harris, who handed it to Norris, who pushed Lewis down on his knees and struck him with the knife in the neck. Lewis arose, pulled the knife from his neck, took hold of Nosris, still holding the knife in one hand, and Hise came across the street and took the knife from Lewis, who fell across the pavement.

Upon cross-examination it came out that the witness was suffering punishment for stealing, or, as he said himsell, "I don't live anywhere now; I'm in prison six months for stealing they charge me with; don't know how many times I've been in jail."

Kate King testified to seeing the occurrence.
Richard and Nimrod hads a dispute, and Weeden described how Mary handed the knife to Fred. Fred to Nimrod, and flow Nimrod stabbed Richard.

On cross examination the witness said that when she first saw Lewis and Norris Lewis had a stick, which she thought was a broomstick, and the two seemed to be quarreling. Witness saw Lewis strike Norris. After that Norris got Lewis down. They had been drinking, but were not drunk. Lewis was staggering, but the others were not. The quarrel attracted a crowd about the place. Harris went to Norris to give him the knife. When the knife was passed by Mary Ward to Harris they had been fighting. Lewis struck Norris with the stick before the knife was given to Norris.

In rebuttal she testified that the men were quarreling; as they came down from the corner of D street Lewis went into a house and got the stick with which he struck Alorris.

Richard Weeden was next called. Knew Nimrod Norris and Richard Lewis. On the 4th of July Lewis and Nimrod were quarreling before his door. Witness went out and told then not to have any fuss there, and took a stick away from Lawis and threw it behind his door. The parties then went away, and witness did not come out of the house until he heard the cry of murder. The stick stayed behind witness' door until the sergeant came and got it. When witness went out again he saw Lewis lying on the prevenent. Mary Ward lived next deer to witness' did not know of any relation existing between Norris and Mary Ward.

Mr. Wells asked if Mary had ever made any statement to witness in reference to Norris.

Mr. Wells asked if Mary had ever made any statement to witness in reference to Norris.

The defence objected to this, but the question was admitted in order to give a clew to Mary's participation in the alleged crime.

Witness then said that he never had had any talk with Mary Ward at all. Witness did not know whether the combatants were drunk or sober when he saw them.

Samuel Bine was the next witness. He heard people-crying murder when sitting in his house on Thirteen-and-a-half street. When he came on Thirteen-and-a-half street. When he came out and ran up the street he saw Norris and Lewis elimehed. Dick Lewis had a knife in his hand. Witness took hold of Lewis and told him to give him the knife. Lewis looked around at witness and raw who it was and grave up the knife. When Lewis led down his arm the blood began to spurt, and he grew faint and staggered. Nimrod Norris then let go of him and started after Norris. Lewis fell on the pawement and stayed there until he was put into the wagon. Witness identified the knife.

Cross-examination: Lewis had the knife in his hand, and was trying to can Norris, when witness took it from his hand. Lewis was a man as large as witness, weighing about 160 pounds. (Norris, the accused, is very small, being not much over five feet in height.) Witness was man as large as witness, weighing about 160 pounds. (Norris, Alonno Perry testified to seeing Norris come past him bloody. He was not running, but walking fast. When witness reached the spot where the crowd was Lewis was falling. Witness turned around and started after Norris and eaught him. On cross-examination, witness stated that he was determined to catch Norris for gambling.

Mrs. Eichard Weedan knew Mary, and had had a conversation with her about Norris was her friend. Nothing was said about their living together.

Sergeant Densmore testified to hearing the cry of murder when standing on Thirtoeuth Mr. Wells asked if Mary had ever made any house. Mary said that Nimrod Norris was nor friend. Nothing was said about their living togsther.

Sergeant Densmore testified to hearing the cry of murder when standing on Thirteenth street. When witness gof to Thirteen and a half and O streets he saw Norris running and Lewis lying on the sidewalk. When witness reached D street, in pursuit of Norris, some one had caughthing and brought him back. When witness reached D street, in pursuit of Norris aome one had caughthing and brought him back. When witness get back to where Lewis was lying the latter was dend. Somebody in the crowd handed witness the knife, could not say whether Harris handed him the knife. Harris came to the station-house voluntarily, and was put under arrest by witness. The defense wished to urge in evidence the statement made by Harris when he came to the station-house, but the court did not admit it, and an exception was noted.

Amanda Sherman was next called. The prosecution saked witness whether Norris had ever asked her to do anything for Mary Ward.

Objection was made to this, and the procedulous had asked the witness to engage apartments for Mary. Hy his swidence they desired to show Mary's motive in participating in the strife.

The Court entailment the objection.

CLOSED FOR THE GOYERNMENT.

CLOSED FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

This closed the evidence for the Government.

Kate King was recalled by Mr. Mitchell, of the defense, and teatified to her portion at the time of the cutting.

Mr. A. K. Browne, counsel for Niemrod Norrie, then briefly opened the case in behalf of his client, stating that Norris had always borne an irreproachable character up to the time of the killing; that he was a victim of bad company, and that his father had been of unsound mind, and the prisoner, when inflamed with drink, was no better than insane, although they did not wish to put in the plea of insanity.

The councel for both sides consented that the jury should have their liberty over night.

Judge MacArthur enjoined them, as usual, to abstain from conversation upon the subject of the trial, and cautioned them not to read newspaper accounts or comments upon the trial. "Although," he said, "you may read the returns in the morning, you will please abstain from reading about the trial."

The court was then adjourned until this merning, when Massrs. Mischell and Newman will open for their respective clients, and the testimory for the defense taken.
